

Need Five Million Says County A. R. C.

Money Most Effective Gift For Hurricane Sufferers in Florida

"The need for relief for the hurricane victims in Florida is acute and above all immediate," says the Westchester County Chapter of the American Red Cross. "An initial contribution of $100,000 has been made by the American National Red Cross to cover expenses for disaster relief administration, so that every cent of money contributed for relief work through the Red Cross will be expended for relief without deduction in any way for expenses."

"The State committee, and the Red Cross are working in close cooperation with a view to obtaining the most effective results. Major General William N. Haskell, who has been appointed chairman of the State Relief Committee is purely a collecting and forwarding agency at the command of the Governor of Florida, and not an agency to establish any mission in Florida. The American Red Cross has officially taken over the direction of relief in Florida, with the announcement from Washington the relief fund being raised by the Red Cross had aggregated nearly $800,000."

"The most effective way in which contributions can be made is in the form of money so that supplies may be purchased at the nearest point to the devastated regions and rushed to the scene with all possible haste."

"The great organization which the Red Cross is mobilizing for the relief work is functioning efficiently with relief stations throughout the devastated regions. It is estimated by Red Cross officials that $5,000,000 will be needed for this relief work."

Village Gets Permission To Start on Bridge

The village of Scarsdale received consent on Tuesday from the Westchester Park Commission to proceed with the Greenacres bridge construction. The contractors at once started excavating.

The village has as yet had no definite assurance about starting the Fenimore road bridge. Traffic is more congested with cars backed as far as White Plains on Sundays.

High White, president of the Village Board, will communicate with the Westchester Park Commission and urge starting immediately.

DOG BITES PEDESTRIANS

A small mongrel, without license or collar, appeared last Friday on Main street in White Plains and started jumping on pedestrians. No one was bitten but several had their clothing torn by the animal before a police officer used his service revolver and shot it to death.

The head of the dog was sent to New York city by the health officials of the city to ascertain definitely whether or not the animal was suffering from rabies.

mountain, looking for the opening of the shaft.

Late the next day a haggard and terror stricken party staggered into Caldwell's, with a fearful story of their adventures on Black Mountain. They declared that as they neared the summit, they were met by the ghosts of the other two men, sheeted in a light like phosphorescence. When they tried to flee down the mountain they could not move; their legs refused to carry them. They huddled under a great pine, and shivered in fright until dawn, with the luminous ghosts whirling madly about them. At the first light, these spirits disappeared, and at length the searchers recovered command of their legs and hurried as best they could back to the Indian trail and returned to the shore of the Hudson and Caldwell's bar.

And no one to this day has found the

LEGAL NOTICE

VILLAGE OF SCARSDALE

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Trustees of the Village of Scarsdale will meet at the Village Hall, in the said Village, on Tuesday evening, September 28, 1926, at 8:15 o'clock to consider a petition to lay out a highway, 50 feet in width, extending northwesterly from Ridgecrest Avenue to Sage Terrace, a distance of approximately 250 feet.

By order of the Board of Trustees.
JOHN R. ROSS,
Village Clerk.

Dated, September 15, 1926.

line of New Rochelle; thence northerly and westerly along the New Rochelle line to the Hutchinson River; thence along the Hutchinson River to the Town line of Eastchester; thence along said line to the Post Road the point or place of beginning.

BEGINNING at a point on the Bronx River at an intersection of a highway shown as Butler Road as it appears on an approved map of the Fox Meadow Estates; thence running along the northerly side of said Butler Road to its intersection with the Post mine. The cabin is said to have remained for years until it rotted, and its site was occupied during part of the last century by a family named Knapp, whose farm has been abandoned for forty years and is now growing up again into forest. As the country became more settled and the hamlet of Queensboro, at the foot of the north slope of Black Mountain was established, the young hunters, scoffing at the tales of their elders, tried coon hunting in the supposed vicinity of the mysterious mine. But they too brought back stories of ghosts and lights and strange noises and even the dogs were scared, so that no one tried it a second time.

There are now two old openings on the summit of Black Mountain, evidently on a vein of iron ore. The Ramapo-Dunderberg Trail, the principal hikers' path across the park, passes close to them. But no one has found any silver, and no one in many years has spent a night out on the mountain, to discover if the ghosts of the old Spaniards still walk there.
